Access to/from Nagoya

Nagoya is situated in the very center of Japan, serving as a terminal for public transportation services.

The JR Tokaido Shinkansen (bullet train) is the most popular way to Nagoya from the East or West of Japan. All Nozomi, Hikari and Kodama Shinkansen trains stop at Nagoya. To/From the Kansai region, you can save on your train fare by using the Kintetsu Express Urban Liner, though it takes a bit longer than the Shinkansen.

Fares for the express trains listed in the JR Tokaido Shinkansen, JR and Kintetsu express trains are for reserved seats. Due to traffic conditions, the time required for transportation may vary from the scheduled time listed on the board.

By JR Tokaido Shinkansen (Nozomi Express), Kyoto is about 40 minutes away, Osaka about 55 minutes and Tokyo about 100 minutes.
